

Congratulations AACCI Foundation Awardees

Since its inception in 1989, the AACCI International Foundation has focused on providing undergraduate scholarships and graduate fellowships to students excelling in studies relevant to grain-based food science and technology. The AACCI Scholarship and Fellowship Committee named a total of seven graduate and two undergraduate scholarship awardees this year, all funded through the AACCI Foundation.

Recipients received their award in September 2012, which was accompanied by a certificate suitable for presentation at a local section meeting or campus seminar, as arranged by the department head. Awardees are listed with their university and the source (via the AACCI Foundation) of the funds awarded.

This generous funding would not be possible without the direct support of the association's members, corporate sponsors, AACCI Divisions and Sections, and the volunteered time and effort of several members. Thank you everyone who has helped support the efforts of the AACCI Foundation.
